Show It - Don't Just Tell

THE VBN-TEAM RECOMMENDS

For your research group to be as strong as possible when you are evaluated for collaboration and funding, it is a strong point of reference to have an updated research group page with relations to the research you perform.

With actual relations to your work and work facilities – you can show and not just tell!

1. Update contact information
2. Add an organizational profile in clear text – consider your target audience(s)
3. Keep an eye on the Fingerprint and edit if necessary
4. Make sure that the right persons are related to the group – that way you ensure that the right content is related to the group
5. Discuss which and how many Pure content types the group should focus on: Activities, Projects, Grants, Facilities, Datasets, Prizes, Impacts... Discuss the level of commitment to each content type, e.g.: Which activities should be registered and how often? How large should a project be to be registered?
6. Make relations between content in Pure to enrichen content. If a publication has given rise to press - relate the publication to the press cuttings. If a project results in publications – relate the project to the publications, etc.
7. Use the possibilities of data retrieval from Pure to support strategy planning in the group
